Name		Class	Date
A PI		ADING ad Mississippi um Mississippi
	ions: Us	eartland of the Cotton Kingdo se the information from pages llowing.
1.	Before the Civ	ril War, southerners referred to t	heir and traditions as "the south	nern way of life."
2.	To most white	o most white Mississippians, that way of life meant a (a la agricultural estate) with its wealth and social prestige.
3.	They believed the plantation system was the highest form of civilization develope this ideal was the motivation that led many Mississippians to
		·
4.	In 1793, invented the		invented the
	, a simple and inexpensive machine that mechanically
		cotton	and cotton
5.	The major val	ue of the mechanical	separating lint from seed was the fact t	nat	could do the work of hands.
6.	The who had been performing that slow and tedious job w		orming that slow and tedious job were
		to work in the fields	more
7.	With an inexpensive method of ginning available, the only thing necessa		ole, the only thing necessary to make cotton the sta	te's major cash crop was the	of a type of that would	in Mississippi.
4 51

Name		Class	Date
8.	The	Gul	f Seed (developed by Dr.
	Rush Nutt) was ideally su	ited for Mississippi's climate.
9.	Within a few years,	became the	crown prince of Mississippi's agricultural by replacing tobacco, indigo, and (a fiber used for making rope) as the state's
10.	. By the 1850s the magical	white fiber had become	Cotton, and Mississippi —— the	cotton-producing	g in the nation had become the	e01	f the Cotton Kingdom.
11.	. The	system and the cotton eco	nomy
	almost every aspect of in antebellum Mississippi.
12.	tern	ns were determined by	times.
13.	. The	were a	small minority of Mississippi's
	antebellum population, bu	it they	the state and
14.	. The small planters	between twenty a	and fifty and farmed between two	hundred and five hundred	·
15.	. Many of the small planters	s were	, who saw the _ movement as a	to their hopes and dreams of becoming	landowners.
16.	. The largest group of		in Mississippi were the farmers who owned fewer than twenty slaves and farmed less than two hundred acres.
17.	. Because	required little formal	, there was practically	demand for a public	system.
A Pla	ce Called Mississippi	Chapter 5 - 1	Page 2 of 3

Name_		Class	Date
18.	The planter class hired	(private te	achers) for their children and sent them to colleges in the l	Northeast or in Europe.
19.	In antebellum Mississippi, the	ere were several
	for, but the	ere were no state-supporte	ed colleges for women.
20.	The prevailing	toward	in the Cotton
	Kingdom was that a woman's	s place was in the	to the needs	of her husband and childr	en.
21.	There were publi	c or private	[schools] in antebellum Mississippi that p	provided	to its population or to	blacks.
A Pla	ce Called Mississippi	Chapter 5 - 1	Page 3 of 3